An Elder Law attorney is not the same as an estate planning lawyer.

Elder Law planning seeks to preserve your money, income and assets, to be used for your benefit and care while you're still alive.

While Elder Law strategies often involve estate and tax planning, the two practices are different. If you need long-term home or nursing facility care, your needs will best be served by an Elder Law attorney.

An Elder Law firm will have unique and in-depth insight into the rights of senior citizens whether needing estate planning or long-term care planning.
