BY WILL GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURGH — A man who fell from the 21-foot-high Clemente Wall in right field at PNC Park during Wednesday night's game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs remained in critical condition on Thursday morning.

Pittsburgh Public Safety, which includes Pittsburgh Police and EMS, posted on X Thursday that the "incident is being treated as accidental in nature."

The unidentified man fell onto the warning track in right field just as Pirates star Andrew McCutchen hit a two-run double in the seventh inning to put Pittsburgh ahead 4-3. Players began waving frantically for medical personnel and pointing to the man.

The fan was tended to for approximately five minutes by members of both the Pirates and Cubs training staffs as well as PNC personnel, before being removed from the field on a cart. He was taken to the trauma center at Allegheny General Hospital, where he remained on Thursday.

Pittsburgh owner Bob Nutting said the club was "deeply saddened" and "truly heartbroken" over what he called a "terrible accident."

"In times like these, we must come together, support one another, and keep him and his loved ones in our prayers," Nutting said in a statement. "We also want to thank and appreciate the efforts of the first responders who rushed to his attention and provided him with compassionate care."

The railing that runs along the Clemente Wall in right field is three feet (36 inches) in height, which exceeds the building code requirements of 26 inches, according to Pirates vice president of communications Brian Warecki.

Fans were sitting in the front row above the Clemente Wall on Thursday ahead of the series finale between the two teams.

McCutchen, a five-time All-Star and franchise icon, said Thursday that the team was "devastated," adding that they prayed together after the game. Asked to describe his viewpoint of the sequence, McCutchen declined, saying he is trying not to think about it and is more focused on the man's health.

"We're just hoping for the best for him," he said. "I hope he pulls through because he's the reason why we are here. He's the reason why we play the game. People that show their support so we can do something we love, partly because of him and because of fans. So, I just pray that he's all right."

Panther leadoff batter Alexys Waisbrot walked on four pitches, stole second and scored on Adkisson's single to center field for the only run needed.

Alyssa Philpot was hit by a pitch and Savannah Castaneda walked to load the bases. After Burnett hit a grounder to third to force Adkisson at the plate, Ava Swift followed with a two-run single. Maci Singleton crushed a double to left center field to score Burnett for a 4-0 lead and finish the day for Wiley.

Varrney relieved and gave up a single to Julia Echols, who went to second base on the throw to the infield.

After Varney struck out AJ Neal for the second out, Waisbrot reached on a three-base error to score Echols. Adkisson tripled to left field when Kyli Weems overran the ball to score Waisbrot and continued home on a throwing error for the final run of the inning.

"The last game with Mercy we didn't do well with our bats at all," Adkisson said. "We were really focused on that today. We were seeing the ball great and staying aggressive."

That aggressiveness carried over to a three-run second inning behind four straight hits.

With one out, Swift doubled to left field. Singleton, Echols and Neal all followed with run-scoring singles.

The Panthers had four more hits in the third.

Castaneda led off with a double and Swift, Singleton and Waisbrot would all single to left, the final hit from Waisbrot scoring Singleton to end the game.

Elizabethtown's victory was the 22nd in a row in the series. The last 21 games have been won with double-digit runs.

Swift and Singleton each had a double and two singles, Echols had two singles, Philpot and Castaneda had a double apiece, and Waisbrot and Neal had a single each.
