

CU alum encourages students to be hungry for God

BY SIMON BAKER
STUDENT NEWS WRITER

Christians should be striving after God, Campbellsville University graduate Dr. Jamie Ward said during a recent CU’s chapel service.

In his speech, Ward laid out the reasons followers of Christ should prioritize Him above anything else.

He said people should be hungry for God is because Christianity is more than just another religion.

“Christianity is a thinking faith,” he said. “It does center around the person of Jesus Christ

“Not only is there a God,” Ward proclaimed, but “Jesus is God,” and everything and everyone we see “were created by God and for God.”

In addition, Ward told students, the key part to being hungry for Christ was having a relationship with Him, by accepting Jesus’ payment on the cross and the fact He rose from the dead three days later.

“He is the image of the invisible God,” Ward said.

Ward currently serves as co-lead pastor at Hillvue Heights Church in Bowling Green. He earned his Bachelor of Arts from Campbellsville University and also holds his Master of Divinity and Doctor of Ministry from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

After accepting Jesus, a person can begin growing in their walk with Christ, as Christ continues to purify and sanctify them, something Ward says he knows well.

“Jesus did for me what I couldn’t even do for myself because He loves us,” Ward said. “God redeems all things. He can take the most horrible, difficult moments of our life and bring from those moments the most beautiful things.”

Lastly, Ward closed with a question, asking those at chapel what they were hungry for.

Ward used an example of going to the gym and working out to make his point clearer.

“If I only went to the gym when I felt like it, I’d be there two or three times a year. Seeking God is the same way. You have to pursue Him even when you don’t feel like it.”

He closed with a prayer asking God to make everyone more passionate and hungrier for the one who died for mankind.

Chapel is designed to provide opportunities for corporate worship and exposure through a variety of informative speakers and presentations. It is offered at 10 a.m. each Campbellsville University alum Dr. Jamie Ward recently was back on campus to speak at a chapel service.
